

The process of immersion

Cheryl Sourkes – Clip 5

What is my working method or process?
Well it's immersion and in fact I feel it very physically. When I start a body of work I feel like I'm beginning to step into the water and I can measure how far in I'm like, I'll say oh, I'm up to my thighs now and then eventually it's like I'm swimming and so the process is finding where the area is and getting deeply involved with it and gathering a whole lot of material and doing a whole lot of reading and then just letting the material take me so it is a process of immersion.
